

KLMUC AND COSMOPOINT CELEBRATE THE SUCCESS OF THEIR STUDENTS WITH ITS 2015 CONVOCATION CEREMONY

Putrajaya, 7th of April 2015- Kuala Lumpur Metropolitan College University (KLMUC) and Cosmopoint College, two education arms under the Cosmopoint Group of Companies held its 7th and 20th convocation respectively at the Putrajaya International Convention Centre today.

The event was attended by both KLMUC and Cosmopoint students, their families and honorary bodies from both institutions. Chief Executive Officer of Cosmopoint Group of Companies, Mohamad Kamal Hj. Nawawi and Vice Chancellor of KLMUC, Prof. Ahmad Hairi Abu Bakar were also present.

A total of 700 students received their scrolls for diploma or degree levels, which included graduates from faculties such as Hospitality and Tourism Management, Business and Management, Engineering, Information and Technology, Media Studies, Design and Creative, to name a few. An atmosphere of pride and excitement prevailed in the hall as the graduates went on stage to collect their certificates witnessed by family, friends and faculty members.

“I am extremely proud of our graduates today; their success serves as a true testament to our institution as the purveyors for affordable high quality education, our ceremony today exhibits the culmination of all the hard work and effort our students have put in their pursuit of success, indeed today is all about honouring them and their achievement,” said Chief Executive Officer of Cosmopoint Group of Companies, Mohamad Kamal Hj. Nawawi.

Amongst the students who have particularly excelled in their fields are Melissa Yam Cheok Mei, a degree holder from the faculty of Finance and Accounting with an overall GPA of 3.90 and Inthu Mathi AP Yokanathan, who holds a diploma in Medical Laboratory Technology with an overall GPA of 3.94. Both graduates received the Vice Chancellor Award for best student.

“Part of my success can be attributed to the method that KLMUC adopts, ‘Real World Practice’ which strives to provide students the best of education through acquired knowledge and practical experiences, here at KLMUC I’ve not only been taught to excel in my exams but I’m also prepared for the challenges of the real working world,” said Melissa.

“I am thrilled beyond words to receive the Vice Chancellor Award, I couldn’t have done it without the help of my family, peers and especially the lecturers here at KLMUC, they have been nothing but supportive and I owe my success to them,” Inthu enthused.

In providing affordable high quality education made accessible to all, KLMUC launched yet another campus last month in Menara TIMA to further strengthen its stance in the education sphere. The new campus, named as the METRO Campus equips students with better facilities and infrastructure that offers a more conducive learning environment.

The institutions play host to some renowned figures of the culinary and graphic design world, such as Chef Adu and KUKUBESI. Chef Adu is well known for his tenure as judge on MasterChef Malaysia and is also a columnist in popular magazines such as Anis, Saji and Gaya Travel Nusantara. KUKUBESI on the other hand, is a former student of Cosmopoint College of Technology and graduated in 1997 with a Diploma in Graphic Design and is now the owner of Empayar Kuku Besi. As KLMUC icons, they inspire students to excel.

“Even though their academic pursuit might have ended here, I still urge all of our students to continuously seek knowledge over their lifetime, what they have learnt here I hope they will carry forth with them and continue on in making Cosmopoint and KLMUC proud,” said Mohamad Kamal Hj. Nawawi.

To date, all of KLMUC’s and Cosmopoint’s academic programmes are endorsed and approved by the Ministry of Education and accredited by the Malaysian Qualifications Agency (formerly LAN).
